DOCUMENTING PAYROLL DISTRIBUTION
Basic Standards for Documentation

- Cost Principles: General Provisions for Selected Items of Cost
  - 2 CFR 200.430(i) Compensation – Personal Services, Standards for Documentation of Personnel Services
  - Supported by a system of internal controls
  - Provides reasonable assurances that charges are
    - Accurate
    - Allowable and reasonable
    - Properly allocated
Basic Standards for Documentation (2)

Payroll distribution records
- Incorporated into the official records
- Reasonably reflect the employee’s total activity
  - Not to exceed 100% of compensated activities
- Encompass both Federally assisted and all other activities compensated on an integrated basis
- Comply with accounting policies and practices
- Support the distribution of salary or wages among specific activities or cost objectives if employee works on more than one award or activity
• Payroll records meeting these standards are not required to provide additional documentation of work performed
• Non-exempt employees: must record total number of hours worked each day to comply with FLSA
• Same standards apply to documenting salaries and wages for cost sharing and match requirements
• Federal Gov’t may require personal activity reports or equivalent if records do not meet these standards
• Institutions of Higher Education
  • Categories of activities may be expressed as a %
  • Intermingled duties: precision not always feasible
Use of Budget Estimates

Do not alone qualify as support

May be used for interim accounting purposes provided that:

- Reasonable approximation of actual activity performed
- Significant changes in activity are identified and recorded
- Process to review after-the-fact interim charges and make needed adjustments based on actual costs is in place
- Short-term fluctuations need not be considered as long as payroll distribution is reasonable over the long term
Limited applicability 200.430(5)
- Only states, local governments, Indian tribes
- Requires approval of cognizant agency for indirect costs
  - Random moment sampling
  - “Rolling” time studies
  - Case counts
  - Other quantifiable measures of work performed
- Sampling must meet statistical sampling standards
- Cognizant agencies encouraged to approve proposals based on outcomes and performance milestones
Why This Change?

• Overall emphasis on a strong internal control system
  • Establish controls for efficiency and payroll disbursements
  • Audit testing of payroll distribution method as part of internal control system review
• Allows non-Federal entities the flexibility to design and implement an internal control system that best fits its needs
Must the records used for documenting payroll distribution provide reasonable assurance that the costs are accurate, allowable, and properly allocated?

- A) Yes
- B) No
Must the records used for documenting payroll distribution provide reasonable assurance that the costs are accurate, allowable, and properly allocated?

✅ A) Yes

☐ B) No

FEEDBACK:
This is the basic standard that every recipient must meet, regardless of the specific methods used to document the distribution of payroll expenses.
Must the payroll distribution system be fully described and documented in the organization’s internal control procedures?

- A) Yes
- B) No
Must the payroll distribution system be fully described and documented in the organization’s internal control procedures?

- A) Yes
- B) No

FEEDBACK:
The Uniform Guidance puts the focus on internal controls as the basis for supporting how payroll costs are distributed. Therefore, the methods used and the records that support those methods must be fully described and documented in the internal control procedures.
May budget estimates alone may be used to distribute payroll expenses?

☐ A) Yes

☑ B) No
May budget estimates alone may be used to distribute payroll expenses?

- A) Yes
- ✔ B) No

FEEDBACK:
Budget estimates may be used only on an interim basis to distribute payroll expenses. The Uniform Guidance states explicitly that budget estimates alone do not meet these standards for documentation. The recipient must have processes in its internal control system to review after-the-fact the interim budget-based charges and make needed adjustments to conform to actual usage.
Must personnel activity reports to document payroll distribution always be used as previously required in A-87 and A-122?

☐ A) Yes

✓ B) No
Must personnel activity reports to document payroll distribution always be used as previously required in A-87 and A-122?

☐ A) Yes

☑️ B) No

FEEDBACK:
The Uniform Guidance does not require any specific method of documenting payroll distribution. This is a significant change from the previous OMB Circulars A-87 and A-122.
May a Federal agency require the use of personnel activity reports if the recipient fails to meet the payroll distribution standards in the Uniform Guidance?

- [✓] A) Yes
- [ ] B) No
May a Federal agency require the use of personnel activity reports if the recipient fails to meet the payroll distribution standards in the Uniform Guidance?

- ✔️ A) Yes
- ❑ B) No

This is one of the remedies that the Uniform Guidance provides for addressing the failure of a recipient to comply with the basic standards for payroll distribution.
